Neumarkt, September 18, 2023 - Following its recent sustainability awards from external rating agencies, Pfleiderer is now also a finalist for the German Sustainability Award (DNP) 2024, giving it the chance to win what is probably the most recognized prize for sustainable business in Germany.

The 140-member expert jury selected Pfleiderer as one of the three finalists in the basic materials/wood processing category. The winner will be announced at the end of October and the award ceremony will take place on November 23, 2023 in Düsseldorf. The DNP has been recognizing companies for their outstanding achievements in the field of sustainability since 2008. Pfleiderer has now made it into the final for the first time. Dr. Frank Herrmann, CEO of the Pfleiderer Group, is delighted with the latest successes: "I am more than proud of the performance of the entire Pfleiderer team! We are fully committed to our motto "Naturally Sustainable" and have firmly anchored this approach in our strategy. Now we are on the verge of perhaps our greatest success to date and it's a case of keeping our fingers crossed!"
